

I have to say that if there is something I need or a service I need, I will find someone to call. I do NOT need nor do I WANT someone calling me during the supper hour or any other time for that matter. These telemarketers are annoying and always manage to call when you are too busy to talk and they can't take NO for an answer. Those who don't mind them calling obviously will keep their names and numbers available to them.